Bicycle Collision Case to Be Heard Again.

Master Responsible for Negligence of Servant—View of Supreme Court on Matter.

The Supreme Court yesterday reversed the decision of the District Court in the case of Sam Kanda vs. D. G. Camarinos. This was an action to recover damages for personal injuries received by plaintiff through the alleged negligence of defendant's servant, one Kando, in driving a horse and wagon against plaintiff, who at the time was riding a bicycle, thereby injuring plaintiff and breaking his bicycle. The defendant in his answer alleges that at the time the accident occurred, he was carrying on the business of the estate of P. G. Camarinos, deceased, and that the said Kando was employed by him to drive the horse and wagon in connection with the business of the estate of deceased, and that said Kando was in his employ as administrator, and maintained that he should not be held liable in his individual capacity. The District Court thought likewise and gave judgment for defendant.

The Supreme Court, in its decision, says: "Kando was employed by the defendant and the alleged trespass was committed by Kando while driving the wagon in the scope of his employment in the fruit store business. Defendant was his master. According to well settled law not disputed by defendant, the master is responsible to third persons for injuries through the negligence of his servant while acting within the scope of his employment. This is so because every master is bound to employ servants that are both skillful and careful. So far as third persons are concerned, Kando was the servant of defendant. Plaintiff's appeal sustained and judgment appealed from reversed. The case should be proceeded with against defendant as an individual upon its merits."

A certificate of appeal has been filed to the decree signed by Judge Perry October 10, wherein judgment for $1,000 was rendered in favor of Russell Colegrove vs. S. S. City of Columbia.

In the ejectment case of C. W. Booth vs. G. C. Beckley et al., judgment has been rendered, dismissing plaintiff's complaint with costs.

Judge Perry spent the day listening to arguments of counsel in the case of Lam Sam Chin vs. H. A. Heen, bill for accounting and cancellation of mortgage. Lyle Dickey for plaintiff; L. A. Thurston for defendant.

Tent Amateurs.

There were 550 paid admissions to the Kikapoo tent show last night and a good vaudeville program was given. It being amateur night, half a dozen or more budding artists appeared to try their talents on the assembled multitude. The first prize was taken from one of the enlisted men in the engineer battalion at Camp McKinley. He sang a sentimental song that brought tears big as pieces of soap. Espinda, a brother of the well known police officer appeared in magic. One local contortionist did a turn, there was a song and dance team from the water front, a warbler from the Honolulu Iron Works and a pair of acrobats from Punchbowl.

WHO SAYS SO?

(From Sydney Morning Herald.)

Who told you so?
Neighbor So-and-so.
Oh, well, that's all right.
Testimony differs, doesn't it?
The more some people say
The less faith we have.
But the right man's word
Is taken at once.
That's the difference.
Sydney people want Sydney reference.

Particularly in matters of health.
We tell you Doan's Backache Kidney Pills cure.
But we are the makers of them.
"Who says so?" counts here, doesn't it?
Sydney people say so.
And we give you their addresses.
Perhaps you may know them.
Mr. Geo. H. Griffith is connected with the Denison House Drapery Co., of George Street, this city. He says:

"For some years I have endured a severe backache, the result of disordered kidneys. The pain was more pronounced when I was engaged in work which necessitated my stooping down. Doan's Backache Kidney Pills afforded me great relief, and I can strongly recommend them to kidney sufferers."

Your lungs supply air to your blood.
Your heart pumps it all over your body.
Your kidneys filter it.

You would die if any of these three great organs stopped their work.
But if any one is more important than the others, it is the kidneys.

If your heart is the cause of one disease, your kidneys are the cause of twenty.
Treating the kidneys is a great help in some lung and heart diseases.
But treating your lungs or heart will never benefit your kidneys.

When you feel dull, ambitious, dizzy, tired, nervous, have pain in your back, headache, chilly sensations, evil forebodings, puffiness of the eyelids, swelling of the feet and ankles, when you are losing flesh and sleep, you may be sure you have kidney trouble.
DOAN'S Backache Kidney Pills are for sale at all dealers, for 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50, or will be mailed on receipt of price, by the Hollister Drug Co., Ltd., Honolulu, agents for the Islands.
